Stewardship is HEART work: The next installment is the letter E.

“Every day is an opportunity.”

It’s easy to get caught up in our daily lives and forget that every day is an opportunity. Every day presents us with chances to serve others, grow in our faith, and witness to those around us.

“Be very careful, then, how you live—not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity, because the days are evil.” – Ephesians 5:15-16

Understanding Time - Understanding time in relation to our faith is crucial. The Bible emphasizes how our days are numbered and encourages us to use our time wisely.

Seizing Opportunities To Serve - When opportunities arise to lend a helping hand or provide comforting words, we should seize those moments with open hearts. Serving is not just about the actions we take, but the spirit in which we approach them.

Learning From Past Mistakes - Embracing the opportunities presented in our failures allows us to grow and get better. The Bible encourages us not to dwell in regret but to learn from our past.

Sharing The Gospel - Every conversation, connection, and relationship is a chance to witness to others and invite them to experience God’s love.

Building Relationships - Opportunities to connect with family, friends, or even strangers is a chance to uplift someone or be uplifted.

Encouraging Others - By seizing the chance to lift others up, we fulfill the commandment to love our neighbors.

Trusting God’s Plan - Embrace the opportunities that come our way, even when we can’t see the end result.
