Women in the Word

Maybe this has happened to you, where you were new in town and needed to find a church to attend. You try one church after another only to realize that something is missing. You find one church with a “good customer experience,” but leaves you more lost and confused than anything. Another church you go to seems to be united by self-improvement and yet another by social validation and being noticed. There are so many different things that unite a congregation and give it purpose and these examples aren’t necessarily bad. But, unless you begin with being united in Christ and His gifts there will always be something missing. So what is the answer? Join us for Women in the Word as we delve into “Will the Real Church Please Stand Up?” and discuss the good and the bad. I promise this will be a book you won’t want to miss out on discussing! The books are in and the first class starts Thursday, September 10th, at 9:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall. See you there.
